

Academic Report on National Constitution Day Observance

Event Title: Observance of National Constitution Day

Date: 26th November 2023

Time: 12:30 PM

Venue: NH Hall, Kandi Raj College, Kandi, Murshidabad

Organised by: Department of Political Science, in association with the NSS Unit, Kandi Raj College

Introduction

National Constitution Day, also known as Samvidhan Divas, was observed by the Department of Political Science, in association with the NSS Unit of Kandi Raj College, on the 26th of November 2023 at 12:30 PM in NH Hall. The observance was attended by 46 faculty members and students of the college. The central theme of the programme focused on the recitation of The Preamble of the Indian Constitution in multiple languages, specifically those listed under the 8th Schedule of the Indian Constitution. The event was aimed at fostering awareness about the Constitution and its significance in daily life.

Program Overview

The event commenced with an introductory speech by Monisha Saha, a faculty member from the Department of Political Science. Her address set the tone for the day's proceedings, highlighting the importance of Constitution Day in the democratic framework of India. Following the introductory remarks, Animesh Chowdhury delivered a warm welcome speech, acknowledging the gathering and introducing the speakers for the session.

The primary segment of the event included speeches by several key speakers, each of whom contributed valuable insights into the significance of the Indian Constitution:

1. Mr. Tapas Das, a faculty member from the Department of Political Science, discussed the basic features of the Constitution of India. He elaborated on the core principles of the Constitution, including its framework for governance, fundamental rights, and the role of democracy in shaping the nation.
2. Mr. Pankaj Kumar Das, Programme Officer of the NSS Unit, emphasized the importance of the Constitution in daily life. His address highlighted how the Constitution not only serves as a legal document but also as a guide for ethical governance and social justice.

3. Mr. Arjun Sarader, another faculty member from the Department of Political Science, spoke about the relevance of the Constitution in contemporary society. He underscored how the Constitution continues to impact societal norms and individual rights on a daily basis.

Recitation of the Preamble

One of the most impactful moments of the event was the collective recitation of The Preamble of the Indian Constitution. The recitation was performed by both faculty members and students, bringing a sense of unity and pride to the proceedings. The following languages were used for the recitation:

- English and Bengali: Students from the 1st Semester Political Science, along with faculty members, recited the Preamble in both English and Bengali, representing two of the prominent languages in the country.
- Nepali: The Preamble was also recited in Nepali by Mrs. Dewkala Tamang, a faculty member from the Department of Political Science, and Ms. Rachel Salomit Sitling, a faculty member from the Department of History. This addition underscored the linguistic diversity of India and the significance of the Preamble in promoting unity across various cultures.

Closing Remarks

The program concluded with the vote of thanks delivered by Mrs. Dewkala Tamang, Head-In-Charge of the Department of Political Science. She expressed gratitude to all the participants, faculty, and students who contributed to making the observance a success. She also acknowledged the NSS Unit for their support in organizing the event and emphasized the importance of continuing to engage with the Constitution as an integral part of our democratic life.

Conclusion

The observance of National Constitution Day at Kandi Raj College was a successful and enlightening event, effectively highlighting the core values enshrined in the Constitution of India. The recitation of the Preamble in different languages reflected the nation's linguistic diversity while reinforcing the universal ideals of justice, equality, and fraternity. The speeches and discussions fostered a deeper understanding of the Constitution's relevance in contemporary society, offering both faculty and students an opportunity to reflect on its significance in shaping India's democratic framework.